Features

This Panasonic KX-TG6822ALB Cordless Phone features exceptional noise reduction which reduces background noise on the other end to help you clearly understand the caller. The advanced answering system allows you to pre-register a mobile number so that you receive an SMS on your mobile when a message is received on your phone. It also features a shared phonebook which you can use on any handset registered to the base unit, so you don't have to copy your stored numbers to each handset.
